THE STORY

“Nestled deep within the vast forests of Norway, there lies a secluded paradise that has been stewarded by the Holmsen family for generations. This verdant expanse, abundant with towering pines and lush undergrowth, borders a serene lake often shrouded in the early morning mist. It was here, in this private wilderness, that Emil Holmsen spent his childhood days.

Each spring, the forest floor would come alive with fragrant blossoms, and the air would be filled with the earthy scent of moss and fresh pine. After long days spent in the forest, Emil would often conclude with a refreshing dip in the lake, the cool waters washing away the day’s toil. These moments, so deeply ingrained in his memory, were a testament to a life lived in harmony with nature.

On a tranquil spring morning, as Emil wandered through the dew-soaked undergrowth, he was enveloped by a gentle breeze that carried the fresh, clear air from the surrounding Norwegian landscape. The pristine beauty of Norway’s oceans and fjords mingled with the serene tranquility of the forest, inspiring a profound moment of clarity. Surrounded by such untouched natural splendor, Emil was struck by the idea to distill this quintessential essence of Norway into a fragrance.

As he breathed in the natural scents that filled the air – the crispness of the fjords and the earthy aroma of the forest – he envisioned a perfume that would capture the pristine beauty and peaceful atmosphere of his northern surroundings. This burst of inspiration led to the conceptualization of what would eventually become Fecini One.

The perfume would open with the vibrant zest of bergamot, reminiscent of the citrusy freshness of a new dawn. The heart of the fragrance was a robust blend of precious woods – echoing the sturdy pines and ancient pines that had stood as silent witnesses to the Holmsen lineage. Undertones of musk would interweave with the scent of damp earth and green glens, evoking the fertile aroma that rises from the forest floor in the warmth of spring.

Fecini One emerged as a reality – a unisex fragrance that offers an invitation to revel in the serene beauty of Earth’s wonders. More than merely a scent, this perfume is an invitation to embark on a personal journey into the treasured paradise that Emil so deeply cherishes.”
